The Sixth G. Rainey Williams Surgical Symposium again honors Dr. Williams as he completes 35 years in the Department of Surgery at the University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center. The Symposium will focus on current concepts in the management of portal hypertension and its complications. There will also be an in-depth session on the management of pre- and postoperative surgical problems. A special cardiothoracic session will take place on Friday afternoon. The Saturday morning session will be devoted to current socioeconomic issues facing surgeons today, both in Oklahoma and nationally.

The Symposium provides an excellent forum for the scientific exchange of ideas, as well as an opportunity for surgeons with ties to the University of Oklahoma to return to the campus. The guest faculty are internationally recognized surgeons.

The headquarters will again be at The Waterford Hotel and transportation will be provided to and from the hotel when the scientific sessions are scheduled at the Health Sciences Center.

The annual meeting of the Oklahoma Chapter of the American College of Surgeons and the biennial meeting of the University of Oklahoma Surgical Society will be held in conjunction with the Symposium. The Oklahoma Chapter of the American College of Surgeons will have a luncheon and business meeting at noon on Friday at The Waterford. The University of Oklahoma Surgical Society will host a cocktail reception on Wednesday evening and will have a breakfast and business meeting on Saturday morning at The Waterford.

On Saturday afternoon, the University of Oklahoma and Texas A&M will compete in the first home football game of the season. If you desire tickets, please indicate this on your registration and we will make every effort to see that they are available.

We acknowledge the assistance of the following organizations:

General Information

COURSE DESCRIPTION
This symposium will focus on frequently encountered problems in surgical practice and will be clinically oriented for appeal to the practicing surgeon. In addition, one session will be directed toward the cardiothoracic surgeon. The symposium faculty will include nationally recognized authorities.

OBJECTIVES
On completion of this symposium, participants should:
1) have a thorough understanding of current diagnostic and treatment modalities for portal hypertension and its complications.
2) have an in-depth review of multiple system organ failure, including surgical pre- and post-operative care, renal, cardiac, pulmonary and extracorporeal support, and nutritional support of the critically ill patient.
3) understand current thinking in surgery of the adrenal gland.
4) have a review of liver transplantation principles.
5) have a review of current uses of laparoscopic surgery.
6) have an update on current treatment of breast carcinoma in situ.
7) understand the current thinking involved in the evolution of the Oklahoma Health Care Plan and current socioeconomic problems facing surgeons.
8) understand current principles of cardiac valve reconstruction, coronary revascularization and thoracoscopic procedures (for the cardiothoracic surgeon).

CREDIT
The University of Oklahoma College of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to sponsor continuing medical education for physicians.

The Office of Continuing Medical Education of the University of Oklahoma College of Medicine designates this continuing medical education activity as satisfying the criteria for 15 credit hours (7 credit hours for the Thoracic Surgery session only) in Category 1 of the Physician’s Recognition Award of the American Medical Association.

REGISTRATION and FEES
The registration fee of $275 includes continental breakfasts, luncheons on Thursday and Friday, and the banquet on Friday. Registration fee for residents and fellows is $125. Additional banquet reservations are $50 each. All but $50 of the registration fee is refundable if inability to attend is made known prior to August 30, 1993. Please fill out the attached Symposium Registration form and return to the indicated address.
