The University of Oklahoma’s Emergency Communication System (ECS) enables the University to send time-sensitive notifications about emergency situations to all students, faculty, staff, and identified campus affiliates.

This means you could receive a voice message on your cell phone, an e-mail message to your mailbox, and a text message to your cell phone based on the information you provide. Other additional contacts such as a home phone or alternate cell phones would also receive the messages.

It is up to you to provide and confirm the contact information for the messages to reach you. The messages will provide information and instructions for action during a given situation. It is suggested that you enter a personal cell phone number as your primary contact and that you select the “Text Message” option for this number. Contact information from the campus information systems is transmitted nightly to the ECS to update the system. This information will not be shared with other entities and it will be kept private and confidential.
